City Upon a Hill

the eyes of the world
are upon us

and bring paradise
to the wilderness

City upon a hill
we'll fail or succeed
together

on board the Arabella
bound for New England

John Winthrop gave a speech

In 1630
Governor John Winthrop
led the English Puritans to America

setting forth a moral code and religious goals

that the colony must reach in unity

with a charter from King Charles I

to laugh together
cry together
live together

they would start
the colonial legislature

die together
fight together
pray together

though only the Puritan man
was given a vote

walk together
stay together

they saw themselves
as a chosen few

City upon a hill
the eyes of the world

who would do
what no other people
could do

City upon a hill...

they'd make their vision
a success
